DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over York in view of Armstrong.

4. York discloses a housing(10), a calculator (16) integral with the housing, apertures (34) and all of the claimed invention except for mounting apertures formed on a second edge of the assembly. Armstrong teaches that it is well known in the art to provide mounting apertures(some slotted)on a second edge an assembly. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide York with mounting apertures formed on a second edge of his assembly in the manner as taught by Armstrong in order to provide another mounting option for the assembly.

Art Unit: 3722

5. In regard to claim 2, the number of apertures used would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to., since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. St. Regis Paper Co. V Bemis Co., 193USPQ8.

6. In regard to claims 3,4 12 and 13 the type of binder used would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made since the examiner takes Official Notice of the equivalence of the prior art binder of York, FAA, Jeppesen and the claimed binders for their use in the printed matter and binding art and the selection of any of these known equivalents to would be within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

7. In regard to claim 13 it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to use the claimed dimensions, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955).

8. In regard to claim 15, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).
